

Getting Social with

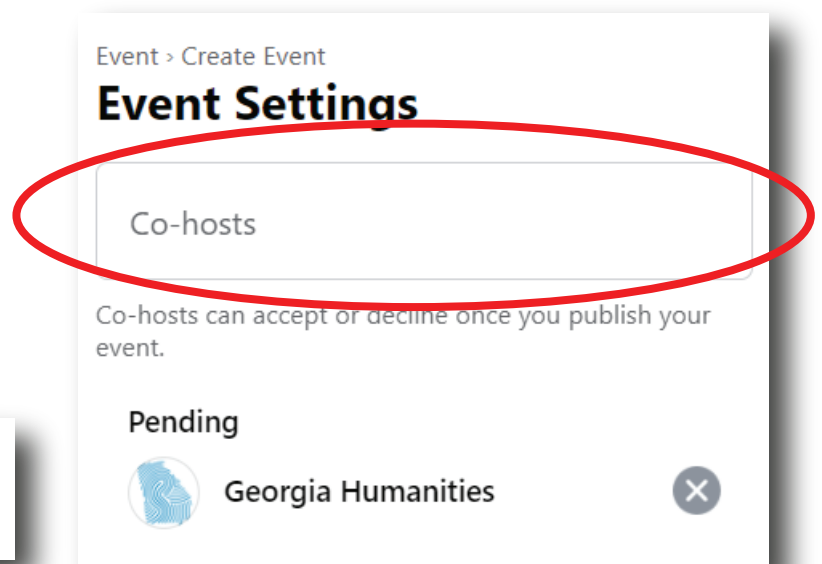

Recently funded by Georgia Humanities?
Let the world know on social media!

On facebook

If you're sharing information about your GaHum-funded project in a Facebook post, be sure to tag us (@GeorgiaHumanities) so that we can also share it with our statewide and national audience.

If you're creating a Facebook event for a GaHum-funded program, be sure to invite us to be a "Co-host" in the Event Settings. This adds your event to the list of events on Georgia Humanities' Facebook page for all to see.

Event settings

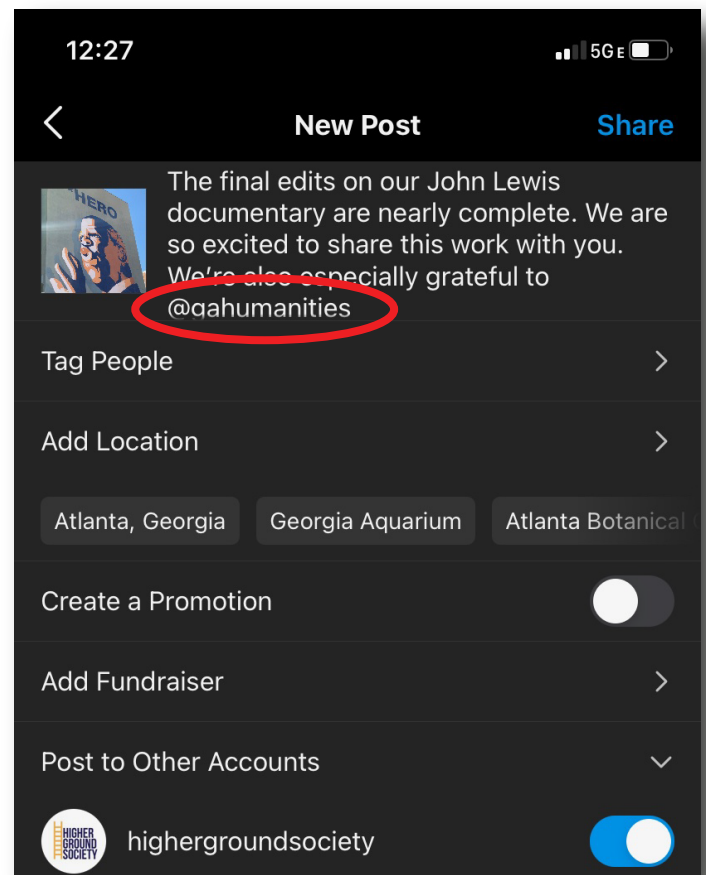

On twitter

Share short 280-character updates about your GaHum-funded project on Twitter. Mention us (@gahumanities) to get a 'Like' or a 'Retweet.' We want to brag about you!

On Instagram

Instagram is great for sharing visual updates on your organization and its GaHum-funded projects. Tag us (@gahumanities) in photos, captions or stories to be considered for reposts!

For more guidance on how to plug your project into Georgia Humanities' social media channels, contact communications director Stephanie Devine at sdevine@georgiahumanities.org.